Walzer is Manager For This Year

J. J. Cabrey President of Baseball Club

Mr. John J. Cabrey was elected president of the Narberth Baseball Club at the annual organization meeting last Tuesday night. The gathering assembled at the office of Mr. Robert J. Nash.

Fred Walzer, who produced the winning aggregation of last year, will manage the men again this season. He won in the balloting over Wilmer G. Crowell, who led the team two years ago.

Senator Fletcher W. Stites leads the list of vice presidents. Mr. Stites was president last season. In his absence Tuesday night Mr. Cabrey wielded the gavel. Robert J. Nash and John A. Miller are the other vice presidents.

Charles E. Harnden, who has managed the club's finances with such great success during recent years, will continue as secretary-treasurer, assisted by Robert Compton.

John C. Nash will officiate as business manager. That post was ably held down last year by Harry Hollar, and the season before by the late Samuel Wisler. The task of arranging schedules and directing the business policy of the team is no light task.

A new post was created this year. It is Superintendent of Grounds, which title is now possessed by William Newborg. The name of "Bill" Newborg has long stood for faithful service to local baseball. He has been one of a small group of men who have never flagged in their interest; who have tackled the "dirty work" for the love o' the thing, and, to a large extent, have made winning baseball a regular feature of Narberth life.

With this imposing list of citizenry in command, Narberth is champing at the bit, ready for the opening of the playing season. It was agreed at the meeting that the local team was again to be a unit in the Main Line League and a motion was passed that membership be formally applied for.

This will probably be done Monday night, when President Robert J. Edgar of the League will hold the first meeting at Mr. Nash's office. At that gathering there will be representatives present from all of last year's teams, in addition to those from a number of new applicants.

From present indications, the demand for a place on the roster will exceed the supply of vacancies. If this condition exists, and if the new ones are to be accommodated, the league will be faced with a problem. Two alternatives have been suggested: That the circuit be increased to eight clubs, or that the league be maintained at the present level of six, the new members being admitted by dropping the teams at the far western end of the line.

No decision on this can be made until the full list of applicants is available. There are indications that Bala-Cynwyd, which tied with Narberth for honors in the regular schedule, may split into teams. Last year's aggregation came largely from Gladwyne. That town may run a team of their own, or may gravitate to Ardmore this year. On the other hand, a movement is on foot to have the Neighborhood Club of Bala-Cynwyd back a real local outfit in the twin cities.

If the Neighborhood Club should back the ball team, it would mean that players would possibly have to be residents of Bala and Cynwyd. This would mean the loss of many stars of last year who came from Gladwyne, but in spite of this observers feel that a good team could be organized among the college and school players who live there.

ALL ELM HALL RECORDS BROKEN

Over Seven Hundred at Annual Minstrel Show.

Shades of George Primrose and Lew Dockstader!!! Was there ever such a minstrel show as that of the Narberth Boy Scouts? Echo answers, "There never was."

Was there ever such an interlocutor as David Speck, commander of the Narberth Navy? Did you ever hear tell of such excruciating funny end men as George Maguire with his shiny topper and his cantankerous cane, Fred Patten with his talkety-singety voice and his ubiquitous ukelele and the energetic Ethiopians, Gene Lane, Charles Ligrest, Ed Smith and Howard Wilson? Oh boy, the Immortal Bard expressed it when in one of his loftiest flights, he exclaimed, "Boy, it was some show." Likewise as Mrs. Mayor Hylan might have put it, seconding the motion in her dulcetiest tones, "Shake, you said a mouthful."

From the opening chorus, "How Do You Do," sung by the entire ensemble, egged on by that captivating comedian, George Maguire, to the finals, "Keep Smiling at Trouble," in which a quintette, consisting of John Leitch, Stanley Thomas, Arthur Bailey, Ed Fittipoldi and Roy Williams, did right nobly, aided and abetted by the afore-mentioned chorus, we agree with Shakespeare. It was indeed "some show."

Howard Claypoole touched the hearts of the record-breaking audience when he sang in his tenderest tones that beautiful little classic entitled "Tea for Two." Then George Maguire returned to centre stage, starring, this time, in a tender little ballad about "Sob-sister Sadie."

Irving Dothard entertained with "Titina," Arthur Bailey sang "Everbody Loves My Baby." If we forgot to mention the chorus, we mean no offense. They were always on deck. No pun there, even if the setting was the turret of one of Uncle Sam's big ships.

Then along came Fred Patten with his droll manner and his uke. Fred's act was one of the

Tennis Club Holds Elections

W.D.R. Evans is Again Chosen President

At the annual meeting of the Narberth Tennis Association held in the Y. M. C. A. on the evening of March 20th the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President—W. D. R. Evans.
Vice President—H. C. Fenno.
Secretary—H. R. Page.
Treasurer—A. C. Staples.
Board of Governors—John B. Wine, James C. McKell, Dr. W. S. Howard.
Trustees—E. P. Dold, Walter Cowin.

The motion to amend the by-laws was voted upon favorably. This amendment provides for a new class of membership, the dues for which are $10 per year without an initiation fee. Members in this class are entitled to all the privileges of the club except the right to vote or hold office or the use of the courts. Mr. Evans in sponsoring this amendment explained that there was a demand for such a membership from many people in Narberth who were very much interested in the club and its associations but who were unable to play tennis.

Following are the committees appointed for the coming year:

Grounds Committee—Walter Cowin, Chairman. Will later select his own committee.

Tournament Committee—W. D. R. Evans, Chairman; Walter Cowin, A. T. Grugan, C. B. Metzgar, H. C. Fenno.

Auditing Committee—A. P. Redifer, Sr., Chairman; E. Achterman, R. Z. Hartzler.

Membership Committee—Dr. W. S. Howard, Chairman; G. S. Rose, W. H. Kirkpatrick, W. Boileau, Jr., A. E. Shubert.

Entertainment Committee—A. E. Shubert, Chairman; E. Achterman, J. B. Wine.

Publicity Committee—H. F. Kairer, Chairman; E. K. Monnington, W. P. Davies.

In recognition of his wonderful work in behalf of the club and as a mark of the club's appreciation Arthur Staples was presented with a very handsome traveling bag. We hope that this will make his journeys more pleasant but not more frequent.

At the conclusion of the meeting, John Wine, the retiring chairman of the Entertainment Committee, put on that very popular act known as "Eats."

UNION MEETINGS

In Narberth Churches During Holy Week.

An innovation which it is hoped will be for the furtherance of the spiritual life of our community is being planned by our Protestant churches for next week. On Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings union meetings will be held with each of the four ministers preaching in turn, and then on Friday evening (Good Friday) each church is arranging for a special service in each individual church. The meetings are at 8 o'clock. The following is the schedule:

Monday, April 6—Meeting in the Baptist Church. Rev. R. E. Keighton presiding. Sermon by Rev. John Van Ness. Theme, "The Compulsion of the Cross." Music by the Baptist Choir.

Tuesday, April 7—Meeting in the Presbyterian Church. Rev. John Van Ness presiding. Sermon by Rev. M. E. McLinn. Theme, "The Depth of Love." Music by the Presbyterian Choir.

Wednesday, April 8—Meeting in the Methodist Church. Rev. W. S. Dawson presiding. Sermon by Rev. R. E. Keighton. Theme, "Choosing the Cross." Music by the Methodist Choir.

Thursday, April 9—Meeting in the Baptist Church. Rev. M. E. McLinn presiding. Sermon by Rev. W. S. Sheridan Dawson. Theme, "The Question of the Centuries." Music by the Lutheran Choir.

Mr. William G. Frankenfield was re-elected president of the Merion Fire Company of Ardmore last week.

Library Association Plans to be Formulated

Public Meeting Next Thursday to Discuss Expansion of Successful Local Activity

A public meeting has been called for 8.15 o'clock in the Library at the Y. M. C. A. building next Thursday evening, the 9th, to discuss the desirability of forming a Library Association and to take any action pertaining thereto. This association, if one should be formed, would take over the full responsibility for the Narberth Community Library which, since its formation more than four years ago, has been a part of the activities of the Women's Community Club. The growth of the Library has been such that it has long since reached community proportions and for a year at least it has been apparent that it should properly have a broader basis of management and support.

The Executive Board of the Women's Club has given the heartiest co-operation in the development of plans for the formation of a new Library Association and last January appointed their president, Mrs. H. A. Jacobs, Mrs. Robert F. Wood and Mrs. Ernest C. Drew a committee to make plans for the change. The report of this committee was submitted to the Executive Board at a meeting held on March 5, and to the Library staff at a meeting held last Monday. Both the Executive Board and the Library staff heartily approve the committee's report and are united in extending the call for the public meeting to be held Thursday evening.

All regular patrons of the Library and all persons whose children are frequently using the library are especially urged to attend this meeting. In naming those groups specifically it is not intended to imply that any other residents of Narberth will not be welcome. The Library has reached many people and has enjoyed much friendly comment.

The proposed meeting marks a vital point in the Library's development. All people who for the personal satisfaction which they have derived from the Library's facilities or who for broader reasons have approved of the development of a successful library in this community can now lend valuable assistance to that enterprise merely by attending this meeting. It is not the intention to solicit funds or contributions at this meeting. What is desired is a community discussion of a community enterprise.

The proposal to form a new association of both men and women to take over the responsibility for the Community Library is in no respect a reflection upon the Women's Community Club nor the present volunteer staff of more than forty women who are conducting the active affairs of the Library. There is every reason to believe that the present Library is a permanent institution of community service and that if a vote of all the people could be taken on whether the Library should be discontinued entirely, there would be an overwhelming return in favor of its continuance and growth. This statement is made principally to indicate how much the Women's Community Club has already done for the entire borough. That club will always take much satisfaction in that one fact. Narberth as a whole, however, while giving full recognition to the Women's Community Club, would naturally not expect that organization, which must primarily serve the interests of its own membership, to continue indefinitely to provide free library facilities for all the men, women and children of the community.

The Narberth Community Library was started in January, 1921,

Another National Bank.

Bala-Cynwyd is to follow Narberth's example in the formation of a national bank which will have a capital of $50,000 and a surplus of $25,000. Its location and personnel have not yet been definitely decided upon. A meeting of the stockholders will probably be held some time during the coming week.

If building is decided upon, the bank will probably be located at 130 Bala avenue next to Whiteside Brothers store. The bank secured an option on this site some time ago and a sign was erected there the past week announcing that it would be the site of the new institution.

The bank will be the second for Bala-Cynwyd. A branch of the Merion Title & Trust Company of Ardmore is now doing business there.

Planning a Rummage.

The King's Daughters of Narberth held their regular all-day monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. F. H. Hewitt, 116 Essex avenue, Wednesday of this week.

There was a large attendance and a great deal of work was accomplished.

The members have planned for a rummage sale to be held the 16th and 17th of this month at 4113 Lancaster avenue.

Anyone having articles which are saleable may leave them with Mrs. Hewitt at 116 Essex avenue, or Mrs. Darlington, at 212 Hampden avenue, between now and the 16th. Packages can be called for the morning of the 16th if Mrs. Darlington, Narberth 1652-W, is notified.

The State Convention of the King's Daughters will be held soon in Narberth. Look for notice of time and place in next week's paper.

P. O. Closed Friday

There will be but one delivery of mail on Good Friday from the Narberth Post Office.

The window will remain open for business until 9 A. M., and mails will be received and dispatched as usual.

Talk by Anne E. Harlan

Opening her talk with a few lines of Richard Watson Gilder's description of the road to Bethany, Miss Anna E. Harlan gave a brief summary of her own journey over the hot, dusty way, through the old Biblical cities to Bethany as a prelude to her visit to the little town of Oberamergau, where she went to see the Passion Play.

Recalling the origin of the play she said that in 1633 the people of that region had been visited by a dreadful plague, from which eighty-four of the inhabitants had died. After a season of prayer for relief, the plague ceased, and the people vowed to give the play every ten years as a means of thanksgiving. The Passion Play portrays the betrayal of Christ and His sacrificial death and glorious resurrection.

The young men and women who take part in the play are chosen by vote of the people of the town, and are trained for years for their parts.

The actors play in the open air on an enormous platform. The chorus accompanying is made up of forty-odd voices and the orchestra of fifty pieces. The music is wonderful and in keeping with the action of the story. The women have their long hair hanging loose, and wear gowns of white covered with flowing robes of soft green, blue and rose.

The play begins about 8 A. M., with a two-hour recess at noon, and continues until nearly six in the evening, when the twilight descends quickly. After the scene of the resurrection and the misty figure of the Christus, in white, has disappeared from the hills into the cloud, the wonderful play closes with a joyous song by the chorus, "He Has Risen, Who Has Given His Life for All. Hallelulia!"

Miss Harlan's description was given with much pathos and feeling, and was met with hushed attention by the audience.

Mrs. Horace Ruch closed the afternoon's program with three solos, beautifully rendered, "The Time For Making Songs Has Come;" "Noon and Night," and "Apples on the Lilac Tree."

Pledges $1,000 For New Engine

Dr. Barnes of Merion Would Aid Firemen

An offer from a Merion man to give the first donation of $1000 towards a new hook-and-ladder truck for the Narberth Fire Deparment featured the monthly meeting held in the Borough Hall Tuesday night.

The offer came from Dr. Albert C. Barnes, who was also speaker of the evening. Dr. Barnes has long been a friend of the company and last year sent a check for $500 to the local firemen.

Dr. Barnes was present at the invitation of the officers and after routine business had been cleared up, he was asked to speak. In a most pleasing and interesting way, he gave an account of vocational psychology as used in his own business and applied it to the job of fire-fighting.

In his factory, he stated, employees were carefully studied, to discover the jobs they liked best and were best equipped to perform. By fitting the men to the work they liked, enthusiasm and initiative were developed, and highly successful results had been accomplished.

Thus it is, he said, with firemen. Men of initiative and bravery, with a taste for excitement, naturally gravitate to fire-fighting, and for that reason, the volunteer companies are able to perform wonderful work.

In his business, though, he pointed out, a man must be equipped with the proper tools, else all his enthusiasm means little. In the case of the Narberth Fire Department, lack of equipment has been the weak spot.

"Your company," he told the men, "is recognized as one of the best trained and most efficient among suburban outfits. You have accomplished wonders with limited apparatus. But that condition should not continue; you are entitled to better and more equipment."

In discussing the matter, it was agreed that the old hook-and-ladder had been outgrown, and that a larger, more fully-equipped piece was needed at once. "But," President du Marais pointed out, "we have not paid for the pumping engine yet, and therefore cannot go ahead with any new plans."

It was Dr. Barnes' opinion that the new engine could be financed by an appeal to men of means living outside the borough, and who received lower insurance rates because of Narberth's protection. "In fact," he went on, "I will be glad to start the fund by pledging $1000 toward the new truck."

Chief Noel then stated that three more men had promised to match any other contribution, and that about $2000 could be realized on the old truck. That would mean that $6000 of the sum needed for the new outfit is in sight. The engine would cost between $8000 and $10,000, he said.

It was decided that the active

A LITTLE SURPRISE PARTY

Last Sunday for a Retired Lutheran Pastor.

Sunday afternoon, March 29, witnessed an unusual service in the uncompleted Holy Trinity Lutheran Church.

An assemblage of about 100 people participated in a short service of song and prayer led by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. McLinn, a prelude to the presentation to the church of the main window—given in honor of Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Shindle by their friends and former parishioners.

Rev. and Mrs. Shindle have each passed the 86th milestone of life and are active and beloved members of the congregation.

The pastor and members of this young organization are to be commended for the zeal they have shown in erecting a building which is a credit to our town. This beautiful edifice will be completed and dedicated some time in May. Their friends hope these good people may experience much joy and spiritual edification in the use of this house of worship which is such a worthy expression of their faith—in God, in the community in which they reside, and in each other.

TO FORM LOCAL LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

by the Chairman of the Literature Committee of the Women's Community Club and ever since then has been managed by her and her volunteer asssistants, who have steadily increased in numbers as the work has enlarged. The Women's Community Club made an original appropriation of $30 with which eighteen books were bought. The Library first opened for business when those eighteen books were assembled on the window-sill of the small bungalow which, with the log cabin, has just been torn down to make room for the new building of the Merion Title and Trust Company. At first the patronage of the Library was confined principally to members of the Women's Community Club who had previously formed a small reading circle. The first indication of outside interest and support came from the late William Livingston, who was possibly the first male patron and who gave the Library its first important contribution, which was a fairly large collection of current fiction that continued for a long time to swell the rental income of the Library.

It can now be revealed that a representative of the State Library at Harrisburg was consulted for advice before the Narberth Community Library was launched. That person that the plan was not feasible and that a worth-while library could not be developed in that way. So far as past experience went, the member of the State Library staff was correct. Only a number of fortunate circumstances, at that time unknown, made it possible for the Narberth Library to succeed along the lines wherein many others had failed. One of these factors was the adoption of the rental system, confined to new fiction only, by means of which a sufficient income was derived to provide for adequate growth so long as all of that income could be spent for the purchase of new books. In order to make this possible it was necessary to procure quarters and labor at no expense at all.

Adequate quarters with light and heat were provided free of charge by the directors of the old Y. M. C. A. building. These quarters were provided before the Library was more than six months old and without that generous and friendly support from the Y. M. C. A. directors the Library would have been seriously handicapped and retarded. This policy of providing free quarters has been continued since last October by the Merion Title and Trust Company, to whom the building was sold.

The third major problem, that of providing adequate and real competent help without any expense, was solved by another equally fortunate circumstance which was that there was available here in Narberth a sufficiently large group of women who possessed not only the interest, time and enthusiasm, but also the somewhat unusual ability to submit to training and to work under what has really amounted to business organization methods. In the beginning the Library was open on Friday afternoons and evenings only. Later the time was increased by adding Tuesday afternons, and for the past year the Library has been open for community service five afternoons and one evening every week. That schedule has been maintained without a break and it has required extreme punctuality on the part of all members of the staff and an unbroken refusal of all but the most imperative engagements which would have interfered. That is a large measure of public service.

From the original eighteen books the collection of the Narberth Community Library has grown, principally by purchase, and somewhat by gifts, to the present total of more than 3700 volumes. The original appropriation from the Women's Community Club of $30 has brought in steadily increasing revenues until the total for 1924 reached $817. Several libraries in this vicinity, all of whom are older than this one, have been influenced to make changes in policies and methods to conform to the Narberth idea, and it is known that at least two new libraries have been formed on the Narberth plan.

BOY SCOUT MINSTRELS

best bits of the whole performance. He should go far with his faithful ukelele, should Fred.

Bill Henderson and the chorus followed the uke with "My Best Girl." It was remarked by many in the audience that the beautiful spring time seemed to have had much to do with the selection of the songs for this show. Of course it may be that two well-known stage directors, sister brides of but a few months ago, may have had a little to do with it. Who knows?

The Mystery Girl.

The next number had everybody puzzled for quite a while. Without any notice, without any warning and to the accompaniment of fast beating hearts, especially the hearts of some of the older men in the assemblage, a dainty, demure and coquettish young damsel came on to be immediately surrounded by the chorus. Then Miss Marion Reid, the orchestra, struck up the air of "Me and My Boy Friend" and there was not a heart that didn't flutter a little faster at the sight of the little stranger. It was a good song, well sung, particularly by one lucky young devil named Jack Cabrey. Oh John, how we envied him. But not for long, old dears. The beauteous maid was none other than Phil Nickerson, good scout, regular he-boy, but, oh, what a disappointment when the sad truth dawned on us.

Jack Jones and Worcester Jones did a brother act. "Jiggin Jones;" and to "the eternal glory" of the Jones family, as a member of the Troop Committee, a speaker of distinction, too, would say "to the eternal glory" of the Jones family, they put their act over in great style. My, how they did use their nimble feet; and they never seemed to lose interest in their pedal extremities from bow to bow. Bow! wow, hope you got that one. "Too Tired" was the soporific effusion of David Speck, the ruler of the Scout Navee, assisted by Bob Dothard and Bob Harris.

Alex Purring distinguished himself in more ways than one in his rendering of "Peter Pan." In two ways, if you please. Friday's audience was not aware of the fact that Alec did his bit in spite of a fractured foot, and would have repeated on Saturday had not his physician stepped in. Alec showed up at the Monday meeting following the show, on crutches, and maybe he didn't get a hand from the other boys. As we have said before "There's good stuff in these scouts."

Jack Cabrey followed Alec with "1000 Years Ago;" Howard Claypoole reappeared singing "At the End of the Road." Bob Harris amused with "Nobody Knows" and Commander Speck and chorus sang a jolly little song, "Oh Katharina," "Keep Smiling at Trouble" marked the end of a perfect night.

Too much can't be said of the chorus, who came out strong whenever called on—and their calls were numerous.

The Chorus.

The following scouts did their bit, and though chorus men are often unhonored, the least we can do in acknowledgment of their good work is to reprint their names as they appeared on the program:

On Friday there was an intermission, during which E. A. Carlson, Scout Executive of Delaware and Montgomery counties, told the audience of the work the scouts are doing; and very greatly embarrassed the members of the Troop Committee by telling everybody how highly they are regarded by the people at headquarters. He concluded by congratulating the committee and the borough on the progress the troop is making and requested cooperation from every resident of Narberth towards the further success of the troop.

Indian Dances.

The boys gave exhibitions of first aid, signaling and semaphore work. On Saturday Strong Wolf, chief of the Ojibways, addressed the audience and followed his talk with an exhibition of Indian dances, signs and musical selections. In this work he was ably assisted by Chief Lewis, of the Ottawas.

All the songs, dances, jokes, addresses and exhibitions went big. No event has brought such crowds to Elm Hall. In point of attendance, the minstrel show established a record.

Everybody concerned appreciates to the full the splendid support that Narberth gave this show. One of the members of the Troop Committee was heard to remark: "While we are deeply gratified at the interest shown by the town as a whole, it is hard for us to say how much we appreciate the able way that Mrs. John C. Nash and Mrs. Arthur L. Cooke directed the work of the boys. We also owe a lot to Miss Reid for her work at the piano. It was a record-breaking performance. We can't make it too strong when we say that Narberth has, under Art Cooke, Abe Lane and I. N. Wilson, a record-breaking troop."

Please renew promptly.

APARTMENT HOUSES PLANNED FOR SUBURBS

Two Structures for Ardmore; One for Bryn Mawr.

Several new apartment houses projects for Philadelphia's suburbs have been announced.

One of these is a structure of steel and brck, three stories in height, which will be erected in Ardmore, from plans prepared by J. Ethan Fieldstein, of this city. It will be 106 by 57 feet and will contain 12 apartments. Plans are completed and will be ready for bids in a few days.

Another Ardmore operation in contemplation consists of two store and apartment buildings, to be built on county line by Louis Mariana and others. John Charles Norton is the architect.

Norton also is the designer of a three-story apartment structure, which is to be constructed on Glenbrook avenue, Bryn Mawr, for Andrew Marmer.

Bids were due yesterday on an 18-family apartment house, to be built in Elkins Park by the Apartment Construction Company, Roy C. Pratt, of Philadelphia, prepared the plans for the building, which will be three stories, 40 by 100 feet.

EVANS HAS BILL TO GOVERN ANNEXATION

Borough Residents See Danger In Proposed Law.

Representative Burd P. Evans, of Montgomery county, has placed a bill before the House amending the law relative to borough government by requiring written consent of the majority of property owners of a township before a part of the township may be annexed to any borough.

Much adverse criticism of this has already been heard in boroughs of the county. The bill has aroused opposition not only in Norristown, which it chiefly affects in this county, but also in Narberth.

Said the Norristown Register last week in commenting editorially on Represntative Evans' bill:

"There is fear that the bill before the legislation which would prohibit the annexation of territory to a borough unless a majority of the whole township to which such territory was attached gave its approval, may prove a drawback to efforts of many boroughs in the State to enlarge their boundaries and advance themselves into the class of cities. Also that it will deprive many sections of territory immediately adjoining boroughs from realizing their wish of securing the benefits of town improvements by being connected with the borough governments.

"Since Montgomery has a large number of large and constantly growing boroughs, this law is particularily applicable to its affairs. It might for many years prevent these boroughs from enlarging their bounds and taking in sections of territory and population which, because of their proximity and their mutual relations, would be manifestly better off within the borough governments than in the township governments.

"A desire on the part of sparsely settled sections of a township, for instance, to prevent a more populous, more valuable and hence larger taxpaying section from leaving the township entity and uniting with an adjacent borough because of the loss of taxes that would ensue, could keep such section in the township government against the clear desires and will of its people. For the combined votes of the people in the more thinly distant sections might easily overrule the vote of the one section.

"This seems like denial of the right of a community of people to designate the government they will live under, a right which should exist, even under the general rules for local governments laid down in the statues. To deny some members of a local government the right to say they can not improve their living conditions and their communitity status by uniting with a larger unit of government, is inflicting a hardship upon them, and depriving them of certain inherent rights.

"General laws must classify and provide the governmental methods for the various political units in the State, but to insist that such a unit can not be altered when it is to the distinct advantage of some of its people to alter it, is establishing a hard and fast rule that may prove to be as hampering to the development of towns of the State as it will be unpopular among those adversely affected."

FIRE POLICE

Planned for County Fire Companies. Started in Norristown.

Plans are on foot to form a county fire-police unit. The Montgomery County Firemen's Association of which most of the fire companies of the county are members, is behind the project.

Norristown has already formed a fire police unit. Representatives from the Bryn Mawr fire company were present at an inspection of this unit held last week in the county seat.

County companies which do not have fire police will begin at once to organize such units. It is also proposed to form the police of the entire county into one body, which would be known as the Montgomery County Fire Police Associatioin. In this event any fire police, of any town would have the same power to act in any part of the county.

At the yearly meeting of the Montgomery County Firemen's Association at Norristown, April 20, fire police will be on duty to handle the motor cars and other traffic. There will be no police present at the Hoy banque, but 20 will be dispatched for duty at the banquet of the Firemen's Union at Norristown, April 25.

POWDER YOUR NOSE AND ALIGHT SAFELY, NEW IDEA

It may seem a far-fetched linking of ideas to compare the powdering of one's nose with the correct method of alighting from a street car. But an electric railway company in Berlin bridged the gap, and the idea of an erudite German student of psychology is now being widely copied.

Many women and some men do not know how to get off a street car correctly; that is, by facing forward.

At each exist from the car, the companies put a mirror, set in such a position that passengers had to face forward to see themselves as they prepare to leave the vehicle.

Alighting accidents were cut down to a remarkable degree, the companies reported.

INDIAN CODE BASED ON MORAL COURAGE

Chief Strongwolf, of Narberth, Develops Character In Boys

Learned in the century-wise traditions of the red man, Chief Joseph Strongwolf, who last Wednesday delivered the invocation at the formal presentaion to the State of the William Penn Charter of Liberties at Harrisburg, expounds a philosophy of moral courage that is best exemplified in his own life story.

"I can hope for no happiness in serving only myself," he said. "What though I have momentary pleasure, have I discovered in it the essence of happiness? For three years I have given the best of me to the training of boys. In the natural environment of the Pocono Mountains, at our Camp Lenape, I watch and help to mould the spiritual growth of your white American boys."

The Chief, a strong-looking man with a healthy glow on his bronzed skin, dilated on the work being done at Camp Lenape, up in Pike county, where he is the instructor of 100 boys every summer in woodcraft and nature study.

The camp is maintained by a nature-loving instructor in the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, James Keiser, and his brother.

"Up there," said Chief Strongwolf, referring to the camp, "we have the young boys for a month or two each summer, and by a rigorous life next to nature we try to develop in them healthy bodies and clean minds.

Teaches Bird Calls

"I teach them the calls of the birds, I show them the different trees and plants, and with them, we study the lives and habits of the little furred creatures that become so interesting when one knows how and when to look for them. Nature and the study of primitive things bring about a healthy mental state that helps to develop what I call 'moral courage'—the most needed thing in character building.

"And, through it all, I want to help boys wherever I can, because it is only through the help that a number of splendid men have extended to me that I have been able to get where I am today, that is, in a position to be able to study, so that I may carry on the search into the history and origin of my people, the North American Indians."

Chief Strongwolf lives in Narberth. He is a student in anthropology at the University of Pennsylvania, and he intends to use this study, when completed, as the basis for his researches into the little-known history of the red man's origin.

Born in Wisconsin.

His life, in itself, is an interesting story. He was born in Northern Wisconsin, not far from the Canadian line, of Ojibway parents.

He lived with his family until he was 18 years old, hunting and trapping by winter and working in the logging camps in the summers. But there was little work being done in the local lumber camps, and circumstances became straitened for the humble Indian family. So Joseph Strongwolf one day, to make things easier for his father and brother, suddenly went off to a prosperous lumber camp in Canada to make his own living. Here he worked and saved until at the age of 20 he had saved enough to allow him to enter school.

So when most white boys are finishing their school careers, he started his grammar school education in Madison, Wis. Working and studying he progressed until in 1914, when he was about to enter the University of Pennsylvania the war commenced.

Enlisted With British.

He enlisted with the British forces, forged his way ahead because of his scouting abilities, and served all through that struggle, first with the British, and later with the Americans.

Then, with his purpose clear to him again, and with the aid of Dr. Frank G. Speck, of the Anthropology Department of the University of Pennsylvania, and other public-spirited Philadelphians, he resumed his studies.

At boys' camps, at scout meetings, at Sunday schools, anywhere his services can be used, he may be found, in full Indian regalia, trying to show his appreciation to the friends who have helped him by telling the assembled boys and girls of the simple code of the red man, which developed "moral courage," and dependence upon one's own sense of right.

BEETLE QUARANTINE FOR MONTGOMERY

Jap Pest, Active Here Last Year, Has Spread.

The Japanese beetle having this year spread over a larger territory in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware than ever before, the Federal Horticultural Board of the Department of Agriculture at Washington has announced a wide expansion of the area in which quarantine regulations will be enforced against the destructive pest.

In Pennsylvania the affected region includes all or large portions of Philadelphia, Delaware, Chester, Montgomery, Bucks and Berks counties. In New Jersey virtually the whole of Ocean, Hunterdon, Monmouth, Middlesex and Somerset counties are subject to the quarantine. New Castle is the only county in Delaware where it applies.

An important new provision of the regulations was also announced by the Horticultural Board. It prohibits the interstate movement of any farm products from freight yards, docks or markets in the regulated area, irrespective of origin, to points outside, such area during periods when large numbers of the beetles are on the wing.

Restrictions on the movement of farm products from the quarantined territory have been materially revised, both as regards direct shipments from point of production and shipments from Philadelphia and other markets within the regulated area.

The list of regulated articles has also been considerably reduced and types of products as have meen determined as most likely to carry beetles during the active adult stage of the insect.

Fears Spread of Scourge.

It was pointed out by the beetle experts that unless more rigorous precautions are taken by the State and national authorities the scourge will spread to every fertile spot in the country.

The decision of the Federal Horticultural Board of the Department of Agriculture to extend the quarantined area was made after data, compiled during the past nine months, was turned over to the board for examination March 9. This data was collected by L. B. Smith, who is now in charge of the station at Riverton. Quarantine work will not begin until the full-grown beetles come above the ground in June.

So far as the extension of the original area of infestation is concerned, Professor Hadley said that neither he nor his associates in the fight against the pests are unduly alarmed. The fighting forces have expected an extension of this area by about five or 10 miles yearly, until they have set up certain conditions that will repulse the ravager.

"If it were not for the outbreak on Montgomery Island and the worriment we heretofore felt over funds to finance the 1925 work, we would feel elated over the conditions that exist," Professor Hadley said. "Through the Riverton station, from which Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and the Federal Government conduct the fight, we have established three different kinds of parasites which can be counted upon ultimately to battle the beetles."

Tachinid Kill the Beetles.

"Our greatest success has been the tachinid, which kills the adult beetle. This parasite lays its eggs on the shoulder of the beetle, particularly the female. The larvae of these bore into the beetle and in the end kill it. The action of the larvae of the tachinid on the beetle is similar to a cancer on the human. Almost as soon as the boring begins the beetle, almost intuitively crawls away, and makes preparations to die.

"We have had some success also with two parasites which kill the grubs, or larvae, but we cannot claim as much for these as we can for the tachinid. It is not the easiest thing to establish these parasites. We are forced to go to Japan, Korea, Chile and India and bring them here and then prepare conditions as nearly possible as those in which they thrive in their native haunts. But too frequently some slight element is overlooked, and the venture is unsuccessful.

"Even when the parasites become once established it takes sometime before they multiply and reach a parity numercially with the 'host,' or beetle. The parasite is always much slower in developing than the 'host.' Ultimately we feel qnite sure that the introduced parasites will subdue the beetles, but before this time comes the infested area will increase.

"It is the only way that the battle against the pests can be waged. To attempt to use sprays or flushes over a large area is too costly. Such action would cost from $50 to $60 an acre. This is all right for lawns, or golf courses, and such action in these cases is advised, but it would hardly pay a farmer to spray several hundred acres."

Federal Appropriations Cuts.

The Federal appropriations to fight the scourge were cut from $616,000 to $280,000, Professor Hadley said, and this cut will seriously impede the work of the men who are going to fight the beetle. The States have also promised to give sums. Delaware has promised $10,000; New Jersey, $60,000, and Pennsylvania, $75,000. No appropriations have been made yet. All of the money received will be spent through the Riverton station, Professor Hadley said.

"We will have to eliminate one branch of service, conducting a quarantine on farm products shipped out of the infested area," Professor Hadley continued. "If we still have the support of the States we will be able to carry on all other phases of the work, which includes investigation and research, introducing parasites and carrying on a quarantine of the nursery products shipped out of the beetle-stricken area."

Nine Starts Practice in Earnest.

Baseball practice started in earnest at Lower Merion High this Monday. Coach Fowler had his candidates out on the Senior High field in Ardmore and gave them their first stiff work-out of the season.

Prospects for a good season this year are excellent. Practically all of last year's veterans are back this season.

BOYS' BAND

Formed by Narberth Postmaster From L. M. Students.

Under the leadership of Frederick C. Patten, of Narberth, there has been conceived, organized and partly developed a boys' band. This band is to be known, when it becomes a finished product, as the Main Line Boys' Band. It is composed entirely of boys of Lower Merion and Narberth school districts.

There are many over 100 members, 60 of which compose the Lower Merion High School unit. The instruments which compose the band are trombones, drums, cornets, clarinets, alto horns, baritone trumpets, tubas and a varied selection of saxophones.

Mr. Patten is a widely known musician, his own instrument being the cornet. He studied in Germany under the greatest of cornet teachers, the famous Weim-schenk, of Leipsig.

After traveling over the world playing, he made his home in Narberth, where he is at present its postmaster.

Mr. P. V. Fletcher who assists Mr. Patten with his band was formerly assistant director of the Stanley Theatre Orchestra.

Daylight Saving.

Present indications are that daylight saving will again be in effect in this section this year.

According to Charles B. Hall, President of Philadelphia City Council, the daylight saving law enacted two years ago is automatic. It requests citizens to turn hands of their timepieces one hour ahead on the last Sunday in April until the last Sunday in September.

Action taken by Philadelphia will probably be followed by the Main Line communities.

Please renew promptly.

Lightning Voltage.

The flash of lightning that cuts across the summer sky carries a charge of 10,000,000 volts, according to estimates recently made in the search for a means to protect high-power electric transmission lines from damage by lightning.

We especially invite everyone interested to be present at our distinctly unusual Good Friday service. We are offering a production of "The Terrible Meek," by Charles Rann Kennedy. Because of the nature of this dramatization and the difficulties attendant upon such a pretentious program it will be necessary to close the doors promptly at 8 o'clock, after which no one will be admitted.

Main Line Choral Concert.

The Main Line Choral Society spring concert is announced for Thursday, April 23, to be held at the Women's Club of Ardmore.

William P. Bentz, the director, has prepared a very ambitious program of folk songs which the choral will render unaccompanied. The definite program will be published in the next issue of this paper as well as the soloist selected.

Many members of the choral are from the former Narberth Choral Society, which was absorbed by the new organization.

Tickets will be mailed to subscribers, while for the general public a ticket sale will be arranged in order that everyone interested in choral music may have an opportunity of enjoying this worth while event.

SCHOOL NEWS

On Friday morning, March 27, in Assembly, two poems were read by Ninth Grade pupils. The first, Spanish Waters, by John Masefield, was read by Ann Speed; the second, the Highwayman, by Alfred Noyes, by Robert Barclay. Harry Messic announced that a meeting will be held to elect officers for next year's "Compass." Any members of the present Eighth Grade who are interested invited to attend.

Thursday, June 18, has been selected as the day for holding the annual Commencement exercises.

The Board of Directors at its meeting on Monday decided to close the school on Good Friday.

Track practice is now underway under the direction of Mr. Orelein, who has outlined a track.

On Monday after school Miss Speakman will give a group of Girl Scouts their test for the music badge.

Mr. Wilson was absent from the Assembly exercises on Friday.

Miss Jantzen, the art teacher, has been telling us that she will probably enter some of the drawings in a contest.

The boys have united to organize a baseball team.

The library is again ready for use. The cataloging is finished and a Ninth grader is placed in charge each period.

Editors, Ruth Hopkins and Robert Stalker.

Monday's Meeting.

Sixty-five scouts reported at their enlarged headquarters for last Monday's meeting. Of course it took some time to settle down after the show.

Just after the meeting was called to order, Alec Purring, who played his part in the Friday show, regardless of a fractured foot, made his entrance. He was given a young ovation. When that subsided the meeting went on again. Louis Canfield, John Leitch and Stanley Thomas were advanced to second class.

Art Cooke and I. N. Wilson talked to the boys on the obligations of Scouting and Edwin T. Wolf congratulated them on their work in the minstrel show.

Boxing was then in order. The following boys showed what they could do with the gloves in a series of three-round bouts:

Gene Claghorn vs. Roy Williams.
Bob Valette vs. Ed Peters.
Jay Thomas vs. Tom Cosack.
Bill Bailey vs. Gene Lane.
Louis Canfield vs. Harry Hoffman.
Arthur Edrop vs. Alfred Brammer.
Bob Dothard vs. Dave Speck.

The meeting then adjourned.

And, now, a few words about the Boy Scout Fund. Robert J. Nash believes in scouting and the Narberth Troop. With his donation came this letter:

"Mr. E. T. Wolf, Treasurer.

"Dear Mr. Wolf:

"Here's a check for a trifling sum to help out with the splendid work you men are doing for the Boy Scouts of Narberth. No acknowledgment necessary.

"Cordially,
"BOB NASH."

Pretty fine of Bob Nash. He comes around regularly every year with a good-sized subscription. And we must not forget that he is one of the 10 public-spirited citizens who provided the site for the Scout house. He's a good scout himself, with many good deeds to his credit. Bob is also vice president of the Fathers' Association.

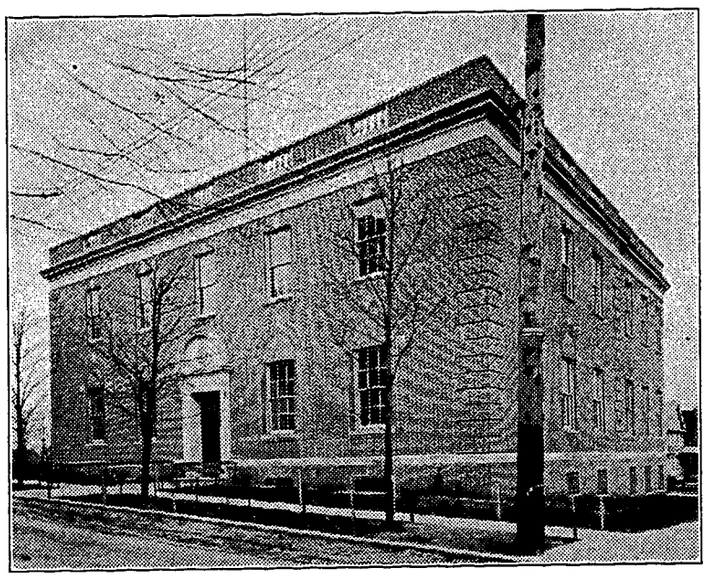

A. W. Burns is another good citizen. He dropped in to the Scout House on Monday evening and said he would like to subscribe some more to the fund. So you see his name on the honor roll a second time this week. The following are this week's subscribers:

Mrs. Joseph Maguire, A. H. Wilson, Charles C. Mason, John B. Wine, W. D. R. Evans, Robert J. Nash, C. H. Reger, E. P. Dold and A. W. Burns.

Prexy Billy Evans, whose name appears above, has already come out strong for the boys in the columns of this paper. He came out stronger this week. In addition to his subscription, which is duly acknowledged, he has offered, as president of the Narberth Tennis Association, a junior membership in the organization to the boy who in the opinion of Scoutmaster Cooke qualifies for the prize.

This is a pretty good little town, isn't it, people; but we would like to see more than 143 names on the honor roll, even if they only represent subscriptions of one dime each.

Thrown From Horse.

While returning from a horseback ride on Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. Walter I. Dothard, Miss Fanny H. Loos met with a painful accident. Her horse took fright at an automobile that came very close, and became unmanageable. When opposite Albrecht's Nursery on Montgomery avenue, Miss Loos was thrown violently to the ground, sustaining a slight fracture of the skull and a broken rib. Dr. George Fales Baker happened to be there with a car and took her to Bryn Mawr Hospital. She was unconscious for some hours, and suffered very severe pain on regaining consciousness. Happily there was no depression of the bones of the skull. and the physician in charge at the hospital has given her family assurances that no serious consequences will follow.

Planning Card Party.

The Hospitality Committee of the Women's Community Club are planning a card party to be held at the Y. M. C. A. on the afternoon of April 21. The committee in charge is composed of Mrs. Wallis Boileau and Mrs. Albert Church. Prizes and refreshments will be provided, at a cost of 35 cents per player.

Auxiliary Meeting.

The regular monthly singing of the Women's Auxiliary of the Narberth Presbyterian Church will be held all day on Wednesday, April 8, 1925, in the church parlors.

Sewing from 10 until 4 o'clock.

Dr. Shope's Bible Class.

Will suspend their meeting next Monday evening, April 6, on account of the services held by the churches of the borough during Holy Week.

The lectures will be continued the following week in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium with the ever-increased interest these meetings hold.

"Olivet to Calvary."

This beautiful cantata by Maunder will be sung by the choir of the Methodist Church on Palm Sunday in the evening at 7.45.

Valuable Dog Killed

A chow dog, owned by Mr. B. F. Livingston of Essex avenue, was run over and killed Thursday by a car driven by Postmaster Fred F. Patten, when the animal ran into the street.

The dog is said to have been valued at $1,000 by the owner.

You are responsible for the injuries your car may inflict upon another person, or the damage it may do to his property.
The law says so.
But the law does not specify the amount of the award. It leaves that to the jury.
And some juries have said $50,000 for personal injuries.

Cynwyd Steals a March.

There was much indignation when it was learned that the Bala-Cynwyd fire company was soliciting dues in South Merion as usual. Narberth leaders seemed to think that Cynwyd was violating the privilege recently given Narberth to solicit funds for its new apparatus in Merion by its action in going after dues as usual in the southside territory.

Further umbrage was taken at the leter which Cynwyd is sending with its bills. The Narberth men resented what they termed the veiled attacks taken at them in the Cynwyd letter. Especially distasteful was the part which intimated that after South Merion residents had helped to pay for Cynwyd apparatus they were now to be asked to pay for Narberth Borough engines.

Narberth has not yet done any soliciting for funds in the contested territory. It was decided to begin immediate action.

"Harmony" Not Succeeding.

The accusation of Fire Chief Charles V. Noel, that his company was being discriminated against because of its recent controversy with Cynwyd and Township Fire Companies as to territory which it should cover in South Merion, provided the only interesting spot in an otherwise dull "harmony" fire meeting which was held in the township building in Ardmore last Thursday evening.

Chief Noel declared that his company had not been called out to recent fires in Merion while the Cynwyd and West Manayunk Companies, which were further away from the scene, had been called. He intimated that an organized effort was being made by Cynwyd and Township Companies to keep the Narberth volunteers from going into action in the contested territory.

It was explained to him by Cynwyd representatives that the Cynwyd Company had been called out to fires in Merion that were near to Narberth not because of wilful discrimination but because the Merion telephones are on the Cynwyd exchange and the operators find that they can reach the Cynwyd Company quicker than Narberth. To get Narberth the operators must first relay their calls through the Ardmore exchange. The reason why West Manayunk was called was attributed to the same reason.

The meeting last week was the second of the series of conferences between the various fire companies of the township. The first was held a month ago under the direction of the fire committee of the Lower Merion Commission for the purpose of engendering better relations between the companies.

That meeting was attended by representatives of all five companies, but at the one held last week the Ardmore and Bryn Mawr Companies were absent. The meetings are scheduled to be regular monthly affairs but some doubt is expressed if more of them will be held.
